Senior Class History

Twelve years ago the Senior class of 1949 started school life with an enrollment of twenty-one boys and eight girls. The girls came in pigtails and the boys in knickers. We were a class known to be very noisy. The first four years were spent in getting the fundamental things of school life. We spent the next two years wondering if we would ever be able to keep up with the assignments given us.

The two years in Junior High seemed like the first six years put together. Then came the day to go to Oak Harbor for Eighth Grade Commencement.

Here we are--Freshmen. It wasn't what we had expected it to be. The boys were initiated by having their shirts, shoes, and belts taken away and thrown into trees and elsewhere. In our Sophomore year we had a skating party to raise money. Then came our Junior year, in which we have our play, "We Shook the Family Tree," under the direction of Mrs. Coleman. The money raised from the play and from our Junior skating party was used to pay for the annual Junior-Senior Banquet on May 8. The girls were initiated by the Senior Versatile girls at a banquet which the Alumnae members attended.

Here we are, finally, in the class we have dreamed of for twelve years, the Senior class. We had our Senior pictures taken in October at Livingston Studios. We were honored at the Junior-Senior Banquet, May 14, by the Juniors.

We are proud of those who worked on the Purple 'n' Gold and Helm, our football boys, and our honor students.

We close our school life with the memorable Senior Day, Baccalaureate Service, and Commencement.

Thus we leave H.E.H.S., hoping that the Seniors next year will leave with as many pleasant memories as we have.

Class Will

We, the class of nineteen-hundred and forty-nine, being of sound mind and memory, do hereby make this document public and declare this to be our last will and testament, hereby revoking all wills made heretofore:

LOLA LOWRY wills her quiet, dignified manner to BOB SONDERGELD. CAROL LAUBACHER'S wise ad libbing is left to CHARLES KONTAK and DALE WEIHROUCH. DONALD CHASTEEN bequeaths his muscles and ten special lessons on muscle-building to JOAN LOHR. LOIS HARR'S frequent giggling spells are left to FLORENCE MURRAY. BRUCE KONTAK wills his ability to have fun anytime, anyplace, anyway, with anybody to INA MAE LAMALE. DONALD EGERT wills his conquering spirit to LARRY DETZEL. ROSE MARY LING'S physique is left to CAROL JEAN FADER. TOM SCHEMMER wills his "Heels Beals" shoes to ROY WENDT. MARY DOLPH leaves to JOHN LUCKEY the ability to take care of himself. WILLARD EVERSOLE leaves his love of farming and his ability to raise registered dairy cows to JERRY BECK. MARTHA DIBERT leaves her conscientious studying to BILL TANK. RICHARD GAHN'S flirtations with the girls are left to PAUL MUENZER. LEON RADER wills his shy and bashful manner to MARGARET BUKAS. EVELYN RICHARDSON'S love of athletics is left to KATHRYN KUHLMAN. RAY WILLEY leaves his chemistry lab explosions to JERRY HETRICK. BETTY CROZIER leaves her constant chatter about her dates and boy friends to JANE THIER. ANNA RECNY wills her knack of hiding the commercial teacher's books to SUZANNE AVERS. MARVIN BARKHAU'S ability to have a car when needed is left to JIM CROLL. KENNETH HASSELKUS leaves his way with the girls to DOUG SLOAN and ROLAND WHEATLEY. RAYMOND HENDERLICH'S loyalty to one girl is left to BRUCE GREGORY. DONALD HETRICK wills his quiet and refined manner to DONALD DRAPER and RAY ZUNK. JUNIOR KLINGBIEL leaves his ready answers in government class to ALMA JEAN HETRICK. EARL NISSEN leaves his gift of gab and clownlike actions to RITA WENDT and JIM LOWRY. BETTY WEIDNER leaves her Pepsodent smile and smooth complexion to NANCY ZOLMAN and IRENE FLICK. RICHARD WITT leaves his outstanding "knows all, tells nothing" manner to CALVIN GIESLER and LAVONNE WEIHROUCH. To MRS. COLEMAN we leave a civic-minded government class that doesn't copy. To MRS. SCHROEDER we leave a chemistry class whose experiments always turn out perfectly. To MRS. DAMSCHRODER we leave a study hall that doesn't spend all its time in the library. To MR. HUFFMAN we leave a piano that is always in tune and a mixed chorus that can sing with it. To MRS. KONTAK we leave a more quiet and obedient homeroom. To MR. ACKERMAN we leave an "ag" class with many prize-winning projects. To MISS HEIING we leave better math students, who do not make her laugh all the time. To MISS WILCOX we leave a Senior literature class that doesn't argue. To MISS WENDT we leave students who type louder and faster than they talk. To MR. BLOKER we leave a football and basketball team that will bring him national fame. To MR. HETRICK we leave a more intelligent, industrious, co-operative student body.

In witness whereof we have hereunto affixed our name this twenty-seventh day of May in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and forty-nine.

Donald Chasteen, President

The Sailor's Scrapbook Of Satire

It is now the year 1969. Sailor Harry Elmo is gazing through his scrapbook of notable people of the past few years. Among them he finds many members of the class of '49. He decided to come back to their Alma Mater and find out what they are doing.

He is very much amazed to find that Donald Chasteen is now mayor of Elmore, which has developed into a thriving town of industries.

To top the manufacturing leaders is Richard Gahn, who is now president and owner of the Elmore Basket Factory, which has now taken on a sideline business of making toothpicks.

It seems that competition between Mary Dolph, who has taken over her father's oil and gas company, and Raymond Henderlich, who had become sole heir to Redman's Service Station, has been dissolved by the forming of the Elmore-Speedy-Service-Station.

Harry Elmo is startled by the sound of a siren. Looking toward the street the first thing he sees is a taxi belonging to Marvin Barkhau, who is being chased by the city police car, with Leon Rader at the wheel. These two have seen much of each other since Marvin got his job of driving a taxi and Leon became Chief of Police. Leon also holds the pinochle championship down at Jake's Pool Hall.

In recent years, Bruce Kontak has seen an advancement in position with the Elmore Hardware. He rose from head stock boy to vice-president. It is rumored that his smile completely won over the president and got him the job.

The last men in town to let anyone down are Earl Nissen and Carol Laubacher, Who have established a national reputation as undertakers. As yet they have not had one unsatisfied customer come back. They say, "If you feel as if you have one foot in the grave, come and see us, and we'll help you place the other one."

A crowd of people seems to be gathering on the street corner. As Harry moves in closer, he sees Junior Klingbiel standing on a soap box giving a lecture on "Atomic Power Control." This is a subject about which he learned much in school, and he is now running for the office of senator.

The town is also alive with the news of the result of a basketball game at the high school. It was between the local Bulldogs and the Bowling Green State University Falcons. Elmore came out on top with a score of 114-22. It was all due to the efficient management of the team by Coach Donald Egert, who hasn't lost a game in his past five years of coaching experience.

The world was recently astonished by the invention of an atomic light bulb. The inventor was none other than an intellectual product in the form of Ray Willey. He has been experimenting for many years and has finally reached his ultimate goal.

Harry Elmo buys a newspaper and sees in the headline that an Elmore girl has broken a speed record at the Indianapolis Speedway. It is Lola Lowry, who has been driving since her high school days. She has one motto, and that is, "Stay off the rocks!"

Willard Eversole and Rose Mary Ling are now happily married and have settled down to raise a family. They are living on a large dairy farm outside Elmore and have combined their talents to establish one of the most noted farms in the state.

A new church, which has a seating capacity of over 3000, has been erected in Elmore. As Harry Elmo passes it, a wedding is taking place. The preacher, the Reverend Kenneth Hasselkus, is tying the knot in a very ceremonious style. The couple have serious looks on their faces. As the bride, Betty Weidner, says, "I do," the glances of the congregation turn to the groom. No one knows who he is, but it is rumored that he is a multi-millionaire oil company owner from Texas.

The question of which came first, the chicken or the egg, is still unanswered. Donald Hetrick has been working on it recently in his own chicken hatchery. He thought he had the answer one day when he saw two chicks hatch from one egg. But he found it was just a case of twin hens.

The largest restaurant in town is owned by Anna Recny. Through her past experiences in high school home economics, whe has received recognition as being able to cook anything. She says, "Come in and find out my food isn't crummy, and I'll cook anything to suit your tummy."

A strange incident happened during the building of a house in Elmore. The contractor, Richard Witt, first drew the plans for the basement and then made it. A miscalculation was made in the house plans, and when the workers started to build, the house would not fit the basement because it was too small. But Richard has one great accomplishment to his credit--the building of a 70-story office building in downtown Elmore.

Lois Jean Haar is now operating a reducing salon along with her beauty shop. She advertises, "If you are forty or over and are getting inflation in the wrong places, come in and let me give you a workout."

An institution of higher learning has been founded in Elmore. It is called Hessville University in honor of the biggest suburb of Elmore. As Harry Elmo enters the doors of H.U. he is met by the president, Evelyn Richardson. She has just expelled a student for blowing the roof off the laboratory with one of his own concoctions in chemistry class. The only casualty was that of the teacher, Miss Martha Dibert. She was standing too close when the explosion occurred and had a perfect set of eyebrows singed off.

As dusk settles over the peaceful town, it begins to come alive and light up with neon signs, flashing advertisements. Down at the theater Betty Crozier is playing the part of Priscilla Snodgrass opposite Pyrone Tower as Drag-a-Long Chasdidty in "Double Trouble" or "Who Shot Poor Old Grandma." She reaches stardom by being able to sing hillbilly ballads and with her ability on the jew's harp.

The biggest sign over the town is flashing out "Hot Rod Alley." On closer observation, Harry Elmo finds that it is a used car lot. He goes into the office to see who owns it, but as he opens the door, he is met by a cloud of cigar smoke and cannot make out who is sitting behind the desk. As the smoke subsides, he sees Tom Schemmer with his feet cocked up on the desk. Tom is known as the highest pressure salesman in town and was just getting up steam to make another sale.

As Harry Elmo leaves the town he is quite assured the world was gifted in receiving so successful a class as the "Class of '49."

Grade Activities

SIXTH GRADE

The sixth grade was moved upstairs this year. After a few days of adjustment we have liked our new room very much.

This year we enjoyed learning new games in the gym during our morning recesses. At noon each Friday the boys have played basketball against the fifth grade boys.

As our part of the grade Christmas program we enjoyed giving a play, "Our Borrowed Christmas." Our Christmas and Valentine parties were happy times, and all year we have looked forward to our trip to the Art Museum.

FIFTH GRADE

The fifth grade started the school year with an enrollment of twelve girls and twenty-six boys. Class officers for the year were: President, Jeannene Willett, Secretary, Karl Flick; Treasurer, Betty Jean Kaiser.

Our favorite subject was social studies, for we visited the entire Western Hemisphere while on an imaginary trip. The thought of fractions frightened us, but we soon learned that they are not too difficult. Many of us thought the best days of the year were the days of our Christmas and Valentine parties.

FOURTH GRADE

We had an enrollment of twenty-two girls and fifteen boys.

We tried very hard to make this a successful year; most of us did very good work.

A nice Christmas Party, Valentine Party, and many other programs gave us much enenjoyment.

In our geography, we took many imaginary trips to other countries, and we enjoyed these trips very much, but we were always glad to get back to Ohio.

THIRD GRADE

The third grade has had an enrollment of forty pupils all year.

Several members of the class treated the class with candy or gum on their birthdays. They exchanged gifts at their Christmas party, and had a Valentine box.

They appreciated the musical programs and the invitations to the auditorium, given by the Student Council.

SECOND GRADE

We have fifteen boys and fourteen girls in our room.

We were kept busy learning all the addition and subtraction combinations. The children enjoyed reading very much. This interest was shown by the number of children reading books from the library, and the weekly reader, as well as all supplementary material available.

During the year we observed the seasonal holidays. At Christmas we had an exchange of gifts. On Valentine's Day we had a party, at which time hundreds of valentines were passed out. We made a weather chart for March. The children were happy to report signs of spring which they noticed on their way to school. Of course the children enjoyed the school activities at the close of the term.

FIRST AND SECOND GRADE

Our room was a combination of first and second grades, with twenty-four pupils enrolled. The pupils of the two grades worked nicely together, combining many activities such as language games, dramatizations, and music.

Each season brought its special activities. At Thanksgiving time we made illustrations of Indian life and the first Thanksgiving. We enjoyed dramatizing "The Turkey's Nest."

We made many Christmas decorations for our room and had a gift exchange. Santa helped to make our party very enjoyable.

We made beautiful valentines. Our pretty box had more than 650.

In the spring we enjoyed a picnic with the other first grade.

FIRST GRADE

In September, thirty-seven little and big little people ranging in height from forty to fifty-nine inches were enrolled in the first grade room.

We made the acquaintance of Dick, Jane, and Sally in our readers and enjoyed stories about them throughout the year. Songs, games, stories, and art work were woven around the changing seasons and the festival days.

For our Christmas tree we made stars and angels. We enjoyed our gift exchange. Our decorated Valentine box held 1,450 valentines.

We visited the New York Central Railroad Depot where Billy's father is the ticket agent and telegraph operator.

The year ended with a picnic in the park.

Monthly circulation of books again averaged about 250.

At the beginning of the year, sixth graders were chosen as librarians; then later in the year, the fifth graders started their training.

The new uniforms, which were purchased last year, make the band an added attraction everywhere it performs.

The band played for many social functions, including: the junior and senior plays, the Halloween Parade, the Spring Musicale, several ice cream socials, and the Ottawa County Band Festival.

The fall of '48 gave local sport fans an opportunity to witness Elmore's first organized football season. All games were played away from home. The one touchdown of the season was made by Tom Schemmer at Port Clinton. The Bulldogs had bright new gold uniforms with purple letters. Games were held with St. Wendelin, Port Clinton, Lakeside, and Oak Harbor. Luckily enough, there were no serious casualties.

JERRY BECK--was known for his ability to handle a basketball. He would dribble around his guard many a time and drive for the basket or pass off to another teammate. Jerry is a Junior and will be back next year.

JIM LOWRY--a forward who worked his way onto the varsity halfway through the season by his good playing in the Port Clinton game. Jim is not so tall but very quick; this was shown when he would intercept many passes on defense and drive for a bucket. He is a Junior and will be back next year.

DONALD EGERT--captain of our team. Donnie was the boy who kept the ball rolling in every game, was always in there fighting for the ball. He is a Senior and his aggressive play will be missed very much next year.

CHUCK ROEPKE--Chuck is a Sophomore who came up to the varsity about halfway through the season and saw much action. He is a very calm and steady guard and could bring the ball down the floor with great skill.

JERRY HETRICK--Jerry is known for his calm playing on a basketball floor. He is a good dribbler and ball handler, and can play either guard or forward position. He was recognized for his fine playing in the tournament by being awarded a place on the all-county team. He is a Junior and will be back next year.

LOUIE NEEB--a Sophomore who saw much action on the first team. He is short but is very fast at passing and dribbling; he showed this when he would take the ball, dribble down the floor, and pass off to another teammate for a basket.

WILLARD EVERSOAL--a good forward, was high point man for the season. As he is a Senior, his many points and good playing will be missed next year.

PAUL MUENZER--the center of our team. Paul was very good at getting rebounds both in offensive and defensive playing. He is recognized for his fine, clean defensive playing under the basket. On offense Paul was one of the main point-makers converting many a hook shot and tipping in rebounds. He is a Junior and will be back at center next year.

BRUCE GREGORY--was always in there fighting and could play the forward or the guard position very well. He has an accurate right arm for his favorite jump-up shot around the foul line. He will be back again next year, as he is a Junior.
